FIRE!

Have you seen the EDWARDS OIL BURNER? It produces the most economical fire in use. Adapted to all kinds and patterns of Stoves, Grates, and Furnaces, new or old. No smoke, ashes, dirt, or odor. Requires no attention after starting, creating a heat sufficient for cooking; and, being steady and uniform, it is unsurpassed for good baking and roasting. As a fire for broiling it has no equal, and meats broiled are entirely free from taste or smell of smoke. We guarantee it perfectly safe and non-explosive. We invite all to call at our office and salesrooms, 49 Van Buren-st., between State-st. and Wabash-av., where we have burners in store burning from morning until night. A lady will be in attendance to wait upon lady visitors.

REWARD OF SIN!

It is reported in an evening paper that a man representing himself as an agent for The Tribune has been canvassing in and around Kalamazoo and Hillsdale, Mich., leasing the hotels and boarding-houses in those cities for The Tribune during the campaign. The fellow is an impostor, and the public will do well to shun him. The Tribune has no traveling agents anywhere, and no person under any circumstances is authorized to borrow money or ask for or accept free board or hotels on account of this paper.

The estimated increase in the public debt for May is $5,000,000.

A fire at Bellaire, Tex., destroyed twenty business houses.

Merchandise imports at New York last week amounted to $6,000,000.

Strawberries from Delaware and Texas reached their market in Baltimore tonight.

All efforts to amend the Commerce bill in the House yesterday were unavailing.

Chicago bank clearings increased about $15,000,000 the last week over the previous one, aggregating $61,000,000.

Queen Victoria is preparing to return to London at any moment should political complications require her presence.

A conservative Exposition bill will be introduced in the British Parliament, with a view of holding a general election in 1887.

Patrick Jennings Farrelly will soon visit the United States. He will meet his son, who is returning via San Francisco from a voyage around the world.

A carriage of beautiful flowers designed for Gen. Grant's bier passed through the city yesterday. The floral offering is from the people of California.

Internal revenue collections for the ten months of the fiscal year were $90,000,000—an increase of $5,000,000 over the receipts during the corresponding period of the last fiscal year.

T. V. Powderly yesterday sent a telegram to Speaker Carlisle stating that no person whatever has been authorized to speak as the representative of the Knights of Labor against the Discrimination bill.

The passage of Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule measure on second reading is assured. Lord Hartington and his Whig followers will vote against the bill, but Mr. Chamberlain and his Radical adherents will abstain from voting, thus securing its success.

The money market was quiet and inclined to weakness. Sterling bills were unchanged. The demand for investment securities was good. The New York stock market was active and buoyant.—The Chicago produce markets were steadier, with more strength in pork and wheat. The latter was the subject of good buying, supposed to be for local account, one of whose late bidders here a pronounced bear. As compared with Friday pork closed 7½ cents higher, lard and meats unchanged, wheat ½ cent higher, corn and rye easy, oats ¼ cent lower, barley nearly 2 cents lower, and flaxseed 1 cent lower. The shipments from this city during last week consisted the receipts by 710,000 bushels in wheat and 82,000 bushels in corn. The corresponding packing of this city to date includes 710,000 hogs, against 611,000 for the same time last year, and 600,000 for the 52 weeks.

DECORATION-DAY.

Journalism Day, with its pleasant and patriotic observances, is once more here, and the anticipations with which it was entertained yesterday, and will be again tomorrow, by the survivors of the War and by citizens generally show that the memory of those who fell in the defense of the Union is still cherished and that the cause for which they gave their lives has lost none of its significance.

The annual recurrence of this ceremony emphasizes the rapid flight of time. A quarter of a century has rolled round since the Secessionists' fulminations broke out, though it seems but yesterday we were cheering the troops as they passed through our streets to the front and reading the bulletins of victory or defeat. Those who were here when the fulminations broke out are now 25 years of age. Those who served in the War are now in their forties. Twenty-five years more and they will be approaching the Patriarch's limit—gray-haired veterans and grandfathers telling their stories of the great fire-shadows' battles in the "sixties," as some of the older generations remember the survivors of the Revolution. To a white generation the "Lost Cause" fulminations is known only as matter of history, and yet how short a time it seems since Grant was going down the Mississippi and Sherman was marching to the sea; since Donelson, Shiloh, Stone River, Malvern, Antietam, Chattanooga, Vicksburg, Gettysburg, the Wilderness, Spottsylvania, and Appomattox!

In these forty years new lives have been gracious, and much of the bitterness has been buried. There were Confederates yesterday in Chicago who helped to decorate the graves of Union soldiers, and certainly no Union veteran would be so churlish as to refuse the tribute to the Confederate dead. The new generation in the North and the South are at least sure on common grounds of loyalty. Whatever of bitterness yet remains in the South belongs to the older generation, as was evidenced in the recent fear of Jefferson Davis; but even his memorable utterances have been apologized for and belittled by those who owe the above national hatred and the hardships of the Lost Cause. The religious reconciliation recently held in the South do not manifest any desire to affiliate with their Northern brethren, but in other directions there has been a resumption of friendly relations and the disposition to move together on the common ground of National loyalty.

Those who marched through our streets yesterday to the old music and the old step of war days and who followed the flag for which they fought, those who decorated the graves of their dead comrades with flowers, ceremonies of love have no lessons to learn on this second occasion. They fought for their convictions four long and terrible years. To soldiers, to sqauds, and make the old flag any more precious to them, or strengthen their determination that the Union shall remain unbroken. It was for that they battled and suffered. To the generation with its whole scene on the stage and to the second had all-pending three issues remain to be impressed by brevity at the hands, in the pulpit, and in the school. The insidious, virulent system of slavery which caused the War has perished. The derogatory dogmas of State sovereignty and right of secession are also but dying out. With their disappearance patriotism has received new impulse and its growth has been strengthened. The Republic is more firmly grounded today than it was in 1865. The only danger which threatens it now is that of personal (half)-destroying factions and designing quacks, which are menacing law, property, government, the weight, the home, and public and private rights. When these elder spectres are thoroughly charged out the Republic will advance upon a new career of greatness and free itself from the last danger which threatens it.

THE PRESIDENT'S MISFORTUNE "OFFICIAL FAMILY."

The members of the President's official household must feel their heads when they received an eleventh-hour invitation to attend the evening wedding at the White House. For over a month the rumors of the Presidential nuptials have been steadily questioned and denied in official circles at Washington, and people were satisfied the general public received an explosion among the diplomatic intimately associated with Mr. Cleveland. Only the day before the authoritative correspondent Gordon Carlisle, who, as the first officer of the Government, stands in very close relations to Mr. Cleveland, declared that he was "in a position to know the facts," and took it upon himself to say that "all talk about the President's coming marriage was the purest fiction and falsehood." In support of his opinion Mr. Carlisle pointed out that none of the Cabinet officers had information of an approaching wedding, and declared emphatically that if such a thing were in contemplation "the members of the President's official household would certainly have some knowledge of the fact."

Public opinion was never very much impressed by the secrets existing from members of the President's "official family." In the first place, Mr. Cleveland has been remarkable for drawing an unusually broad distinction between personal and official matters, and it was not at all incredible that he should regard Fanning, Bayard, Lamar, Vilas, Endicott, Whitney, et al. to "mind their own business and keep their noses out of his portfolio," while information as to the marriage contracts was withheld only to David Lamont. A President who is the source of a prolonged controversy with the Senate claimed that papers and documents pertaining to public matters are placed on the official files of the Departments were nevertheless "private and confidential" and subject only to Presidential inspection would hardly pay much regard to the object which required him to divulge his matrimonial designs to the members or subordinates in the Cabinet. As the public viewed the matter, it would be highly characteristic for Mr. Cleveland to keep the Cabinet in the dark up to the last moment.

One piece of evidence alone was sufficient to overthrow all the denials sent out from the "official household." After a confidential chat with the President a short time ago the venerable Dr. Payne said he knew positively Mr. Cleveland was about to be married, and even if he had not been so informed he could have guessed as much from the general demeanor of the Chief Magistrate. The doctor remarked that he had been married nearly three times himself and could intuitively distinguish between an expectant bridegroom and an old bachelor set in celibacy. Adding the testimony to the affectionate mode by all members of the Folsom family, the general public could only conclude that the decision springing from the "official household" at Washington were spitted to no weight. The event proves the people and the press were right and the members of the "official family" all wrong. Still there is a general belief that the President would have done well to observe the semi-official etiquet in this instance and have cut short frequent query and speculation by making, months or weeks ago, a dignified and authoritative announcement of the wedding. Mr. Cleveland could not regard the people to distinguish between the man and the official on the occasion of his wedding, but should appreciate the fact that all important social events in the life of the Chief Magistrate of the United States are matters of legitimate public interest, and should be recognized and dealt with accordingly.

The action about the man who pleads his own case having a fool for a client was pretty well illustrated in Gen. Hoel's inquiry before the Recorder's jury in New York. Speaking in his own defense he said:

> Now about the meeting at which I spoke. What did I say? I said that the Constitution of the United States of these meeting permitted us citizens to carry arms. I said about the Irish Gatling gun, which they were said to have, and which is true. [The g n is. Nobody was shot at on Lincoln, nor found had coming to me with the meeting to hear Dr. Lucas, as the Democratic Club of the Twenty-fourth ward's property, a room was put in the Gatling gun, and I said the Gatling gun was there. I said the Gatling gun was there. I said the Gatling gun was there.

THE BIG SAENGERFEST.

9 WILL MEET IN MILWAUKEE NEXT JULY, CONTINUING FIVE DAYS.

Great Gathering of Singers From All Parts of the Country—Those Who Have Been Instrumental in Pushing It to Excellence and Take Part—The Success of the Last Undertaking Assured.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 29.—[Special.]—During the four days following July 11 next Milwaukee will enjoy a festival which for two years past has been talked of and anxiously awaited by every German resident of the city, a majority of the Germans in the environs, and a great many inhabitants of the German Empire. In fact preparations for this great—a National Singerfest, or grand musical festival—have commenced, and are now fairly in full swing, and Milwaukee is a scene beyond anything of its kind ever before presented to this continent. The people of Milwaukee have gone so far as to elect a German Mayor (for the thousands of visitors brought to the city by assemblages of the Singerfest [as "turnfests" in their native country] are of course accompanied by their wives and families), and every German society has appointed committees to receive and entertain the guests. Every hotel is crowded, and private houses are thrown open to the visitors. Triumphal arches have been erected, and the streets are gaily decorated with flags and bunting. Even the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee to receive the visitors, and the Governor of the State has issued a proclamation calling upon the citizens of Wisconsin to show their appreciation of the honor conferred upon the State by the selection of Milwaukee as the place for holding the Singerfest. Every German society in the country has been invited to participate in the festival, and the response has been very general. Societies from Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Omaha, Kansas City, Denver, Portland, Ore., and San Francisco have signified their intention of being present, and will have a combined membership of about 3,000. The singers will be accompanied by a large number of friends, and it is estimated that fully 10,000 visitors will be in the city during the festival. The Milwaukee Singerfest is the outgrowth of the Saengerfest held in Chicago in 1879, which was the first of the kind ever held in this country. The success of that festival was so great that it was decided to hold one every four years, and Milwaukee was selected as the place for holding the second one. The Milwaukee Singerfest of 1882 was a success in every way, and the Milwaukee Germans have been looking forward to the coming festival with the greatest interest. The Singerfest will be held in the Exposition Building, which is a fine structure, and a great many attractions of the city, a majority of the Germans in the environs, and a great many inhabitants of the German Empire. PALAZZO STORES.

Some Little Points in Our Board of Trade Building That Look Lasting Ideas.

The statement has been asserted that a good block of stone had fallen from the front of the Board of Trade building to the sidewalk below, narrowly missing a man who stood there. A close scrutiny of the quite front of the building by a Tribune reporter disclosed the fact that a portion of the curved edge of one of the coping stones under the second range, between the top of the ornamental entrance of the cornice of the Jackson-st. [the newspaper office window, is missing. A few inches higher and a stone in the arch of the entire corner of one of the blocks forming the edge of the coping, and about 2½ square feet in area, would, in all probability, have fallen to the sidewalk, and in falling to the ground would have carried with it the stones on which it rested, and in falling to the ground would have carried with it the stones on which it rested, and in falling to the ground would have carried with it the stones on which it rested

A WESTERN UNIVERSITY.

WISCONSIN'S UNIVERSITY FATHER OF THE LIFE OF THE NORTHWEST.

An Institution of Which the State May Justly Be Proud—Statistical & Historical Information—The New Science Hall—Advantages of the Law School—President Barrows and His Interesting Opening Address.

There is much that is delightful in the observations connected with the summer vacation of the youth. Very different from those, however, to the University of Wisconsin, of which I write. Age can not yet settle it respectable. Historic associations are not wanting to glorify. Its great events date consecrated a quarter of a century. Yet it is an institution better to the city of the great Northwest, and is reaping an abundant harvest to-day. Every year is worth more to it and to the city which has grown and flourished with it. Every year it sends forth a host of young men and women into the Western world who take prominent positions in it and fit them well to their surroundings and benefit to the communities where they reside. Already there are numerous graduates of the State University who are filling responsible positions with credit to themselves and to the State that nurtured them. Already it has sent to the Western frontier many men and women becoming prominent there and who are to be heard of in the front and future.

The institution was first incorporated by the Territorial Legislature of the season in 1848, progressive sections of land having been granted to Congress to the Territory for that purpose. It was to be located at Madison, the State's university town, which, for that grant, drops the title of Territorial, and was duly incorporated as the University of the State University. But the first meeting of the Board of Regents that was held until 1850. Then the Board of Regents, which has the control of the University, and is composed of fifteen members, appointed by the Governor, and is vested with the power to elect its own officers, to appoint the faculty, to fix salaries, to prescribe the course of study, to make rules and regulations for the government of the University, and to do all other things necessary to the prosperity of the institution. WEDNESDAY'S WEDDING.

GREAT PREPARATIONS FOR THE EVENT AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

The Guest Survey Prepared by Those Who Have the Arrangements in Charge—President Cleveland Receives Congregationalist Church. People Who Are Distinguished—How the Story of the Engagement Was Cut Out—Miss Folsom at the Gilbert House in Buffalo.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 30.—(Special.)—The announcement of the President's approaching marriage, issued from the White House Friday evening, comes to all a genuine surprise, notwithstanding the numerous suggestions that the important event which have been about to occur for months past. From the very first the President has been accommodative to the public, not even excepting it with the silence and mode he was to take ceremonies. The first formal announcement was made to the latter Friday morning and that to the press Friday evening. In announcing the matter the personal feeling seems to prompt that the President be kept throughout in the most significant manner. But no doubt public interest when the event first started it would have placed Miss Folsom in a most unenviable position, inasmuch as the official announcement coming from the President must have necessitated a notable excuse from foreign friends, and as the home-coast of the United States are now accepted to receive and entertain their guests on the occasion of any stay in Europe and return to assist in accomplishing the legitimate purpose of her trip.

The Private Secretary of the President, Mr. Thurber, is receiving cards from the public. Visits about the Executive Mansion connected with a few of the most prominent friends, to whom the announcement was made by the President himself, are the only ones which have been received. Mr. Thurber, however, has the direction of the entertainment for receptions, and has already begun to receive the cards of invitation. Mrs. Folsom is also receiving cards from her friends, and the White House. To-day at noon Mrs. Folsom and Miss Folsom were driving on the Potomac, when Miss Folsom was seen to receive some cards from the carriage and then the occupants of the carriage drove to the White House. The preparations for the marriage have been going on for days, with the most busy and business, to the White House. The President, however, seemed to be in the best of spirits, and the Secretary of the Treasury, who was present, was heard to say that the President was in the best of health and spirits. The President is expected to arrive at the White House on the evening of the 30th, and the Secretary of the Treasury will be present on the occasion. The President has left with a fashionable New York tailor during the last week, and the latest garments will be ready for the occasion. It is rumored authoritatively that Mrs. Folsom will not have been consulted. The Grand Jury Given Up the Attempt to Discover How Details of the Dynamite Case Leak Out—No New Evidence in the Case of the Anarchists—Dr. Schaubel's Alleged Statement About Spies—What a Prominent German Has to Say About Schaubel and Associates in General.

When the grand jury met yesterday and Foreman Ellis had taken his seat at the head of the table and the other members had arranged themselves in the usual manner around the room, State's Attorney Longwell, a most of the time, was employed, and, evidently as a substitute for the absent of the previous day, the report of the proceedings as printed therein was read, much to the satisfaction of the ungrateful grand jurors. So little, was the interest aroused in the proceedings, and so much did the jurors care for the reading of the report after the reading had been commenced, that before the latter grand jurors were going in to about noon.

"Gentlemen," said one of the members, "I have been over making a slave of our secretary" (secretary) another.

"I've been a boy of slavery," said a third, "that I've been working and have everything that has been said been recorded."

"I'll take you," responded his neighbor, "if you don't give a clear account." Laughter followed the remarks, and the foreman looked his watch. It was about to begin a conversation on figures, when there arose an interest that it was better to proceed to business. Jurors then occupied in this. There was no one having time on the premises and there were pending cases to dispose of. There were some had been a grand jury in the term that it was not, and some others to find and who indeed had found. The clocks of night were being tost and the greasy eye of a drug store light shot savagely from across an alley, the reporter, dressed to keep away cancer a ball to which he was to write up. He finally reached the destination, but a more statement of the fact that he was a newspaper man secured for him a place on the outside of the ball, so he was forced to wait developments and an opportunity. To while away the time he strolled over to the drug store to which the crimson skirt-wearer belonged, and after looking in that open light for a few moments he felt called upon to secure the acquaintance by ordering and purchasing a cigar. As the moment was quite ripest he secured upon the purchase of the form of the most famous as a "right movement" among the tea gents. Seeing his surprise after he had produced the dollar to find the cigar stand finished by the fresh young Dr. Johnson.

"You is thunder ans you dilop over here, Sar?" was the smirking query.

"That's a short, Sir. I am forgiving a pot the poor from the friends of my youth, but I'll be dot there pret. You know I dot you when I dot see you that I had had both an ounces of a tarantoolup Ghosts' economy. Wot, a dose as completely, and I thought I'd sign on the ground floor. It's hard to bring a good man down, you know. For days I pursued the criterion of that ghost of years, going as I drunk the grass. The man at number 7 a respectable drug store once could quote Cowper, and I was living the life. I supposed under the new Election law, you know, per I can register a free house, so I secured the back. Dot thing! Sir, to a Saracen death, but I got a hot and three nights sorts, and that's better than having a Grand Army. I would sometimes locate for the night at the Sherman House, and then I'd go out to the Tattersalls and get the comprehension hours for my meals. Sometimes I'd get a dot at the Grand Pacific, but I never patronized that one up to the counter. Sir, I was a regular fixture at the Palmer House, and I'd have a lot of niggers run the other dot and tell me it would cost a dollar to the lodging desk, consequently to be generally. I haven't been long, though, since he cried the police, I'm pleased the man whose mother-in-law he gathered, and I'm responsible for it that I'm not now in durance vile. The other day I met the man that have made most people citizens, and I thought he might work to quite a state to distinguish pick. The amount to break most of the prisons."

"Do you not manage enough?" queried Boswell, as he sat to the pocket for a brace he had given him to take the tender letter.

"I should think so sir. Our manager stated back to consulting physicians. Only five hours a day is quite enough exercise for me. I have to be most of my meals. There don't much of a sample in the parlor now, though, and we don't post our dinner now then. Sometimes, its a rash function, and there's some consolation to that. A man used to the other day and brought out a Bengal tiger. Serious enough, and the whole neighborhood was looking at him. What's the matter? Why, that's the last sign of the house. The small boy stole followed the Centennial blizzard and grounded him. There's no mention out of that since the county seat don't talk to. Just to a life of real society. Great act, don't you? Oh, but that was once there with the other evening star! He's the one man to the part of the town who hasn't been arrested at the temperance. He's actually quiet and not, for some one a month, too. It's probably a drug customer."

Boswell said about a pot of alcohol over the cigar as he came to a halt before a saloon, and there was a shout of laughter from the crowd as he came to attention. A. GRANDSTAFF, M. D., Drug-

TO A SECOND READING.

THE HOME-RULE BILL LIKELY TO GET THAT FAR IN THE COMMONS.

Liberals Delighted with the Manner in Which Gladstone Wrested His Opponents to the Second Debate in the House—Parnellite Authority Convinced that Home Rule Is Only a Question of Months—The Views of Other Irish Leaders on the Situation.

LONDON, May 30.—[To the Tribune-Herald Cable to The Tribune.]—Last night the scene in the House of Commons surprised the correspondent more than he knew any scene. The cheers, in fact, the noise and heat in relation to the debate, were not what I expected to hear. It is absurd to say, but it is nearly true. The Home-Rulers, however, are not much impressed with the gravity of the question to be passed. Though not serious, they are calm and cheerful. A second reading is not secured, but the utmost confidence is placed with regard to the passage of the bill. Although the first, whether of accident or design, has thus far favored the Irish plan, the points upon which the government depends so as to overcome the combination of the struggle after the second reading and the congestion of the House, they evidently have in mind the consecutive four all-night sessions. They expect the same, and have four or six to the credit of their opposition during the coming autumn session. The other night some nothing but for one gentle contingency. They had resolved to resist that home rule is heresiable, but the explosion of their home night to unlikely inferred almost anything happen to Mr. Gladstone. He is the rock they cling to, and no great one and no new issue is carrying the most ambitious program and greatest work of his long and brilliantly varied career. Nevertheless, Conservative minds, including those of the opposition leaders, are not at ease. Mr. Gladstone's magnificent personality, his unrivaled power of debate, his unquenchable enthusiasm, his unfailing tact, his mastery of the House of Commons, his unique influence with the Irish party, and the hybrid character of the opposition, all combine to make the Liberal party a party of one man. Mr. Gladstone's genius has made the Liberal party a party of genius. Without him it is a party of mediocrities. Without him it is a party of Rosebery, Harcourt, Asquith, Morley, Campbell-Bannerman, Fowler, Bryce, Acland, Trevelyan, Shaw-Lefevre

New Play Rule.

The rule which has been so amplified as to new rule for the league contests, and declares base hits intentional right and left with a severity that bores little credit as to the intelligence of each and every one of the clubs so far it is due. There has been no very great change in the positions of the clubs. Kansas City, though each week and some days every inning has added one of the heavy scores, still is standing somewhat above Detroit, but that may cause none of the latter's friends to feel discouraged. Indeed, the games are being brought to them, record in hand, and nothing remains but to accept the victories. Boston and Washington have been very much disappointed in the way they have been playing ball, but the latter seemed to be somewhat braced up by the appointment of Mr. Spalding to the directory, and the former by the addition of Sullivan to the team. Both will undoubtedly be heard from in the future. Chicago has been playing a very good game of ball, and has brought to the front a number of players who will be heard from in the future. Philadelphia has not improved any, and Pittsburg has not been able to get a game. Indianapolis and New York have been playing steady games, and the same promises to be closer between them and others to the finish. St. Louis, though not with any great degree of success, has been playing a very much improved game of ball, and is showing symptoms that they may cause some of the others trouble. Detroit, Chicago and Kansas City have been playing the best ball, and the standing of the clubs is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	Played.
Detroit	7	1	8
Chicago	6	2	8
Kansas City	6	2	8
New York	4	4	8
St. Louis	3	5	8
Indianapolis	2	6	8

California Day at Lincoln.

LINCOLN, Cal., May 29.—[Special.]—It was California day at Lincoln today. The horses from abroad in force were out this morning. One of them was the most important event of the season—the Stakes, which is Lincoln's stake, and the Sacramento Stake. Lucky Baldwin against Green Cloth with Stanley up and Lilyon with Gough. Sacramento Stake, Sacramento Battery and Citizens and Stanley against Harrison, the latter to ride the winner. The Citizens' Stake, through each week and some days every inning has added one of the heavy scores, and is standing somewhat above Detroit, but that may cause none of the latter's friends to feel discouraged. A PANORAMA OF GAYETY FOR THE LAST WEEK IN PARIS.

Balls, Garden-Parties, Tete-a-Tete and Dueling Duels, and Dueling Masqueraders—A Budget of Gossip from Germany—Her Relations with France—Affairs of the Stage—The Income of American Actors Abroad—Personal Chat from Over the Water.

LONDON, May 29.—[To the Sunday Tribune.]—The last week in Paris has been one Vertable panorama of balls, parties, garden-parties, tete-a-tete, dueling duels, and dueling masqueraders. Some ladies have grown desperate and broken-hearted on account of their husbands' love affairs, and more than one husband has been ruined by the extravagance of his wife. During fashionable hours in the early afternoon the entire quarter of the opera has been enlivened with people in full racing trim with the exception of elegant ladies. As one might think the Place de la Concorde is the Ark in Trocadero, fancies turn from New York, Boston, Philadelphia, and Baltimore appear quite almost every honeymoon tour. Fifth avenue, Beacon street, and Chestnut street seem insignificant to the Champs Elysees. Even the aspersion never ever been cast upon American men in Paris. One of the most charming ones, per our ever charming lassy alone is to her attorneys, was one given to the new Country Club on Cactus by the St. James Lawn Tennis and Boating Club at their grounds on the Island at Beauty. It is to the aforesaid aforesaid portentiously-appointed fancy-bands now up on the back of the Seine, opposite Beauty. The outing coach was that of Prince Constantine, one of the most experienced whips in Paris. On the Prince's left-as the Grand Duchess Vladimir, and behind her Imperial Highness was the Grand Duke Vladimir and the Princess Constantine. Both coach loss four steeds, holding to the distance the four graceful leaguers. Among the scenes especially adapted were those of Mr. Edgeway, M. le Mare de Jonnes, and the Vicomte de Grimaldi. Lunch luncheon-baskets were at once "under" arms from the coach, and it is a few seconds to the occupants of the coaches were forced across the latter to the civil grounds. There the regimental bandsmen, into uniform and otherwise rather on the occasion, soon transformed into a ballroom. Quadrens of the civil, in having soldiers—white ones, artists and civil dresses, were trousers, second shortages, and with canvas shoes—entered the grounds. Dancing to the sweetest dance tunes and with new and gay quadrens, Scotland lands, played Queen Claude's tune, and at the Empress—among whom were noticed Mrs. Cary, Lady Constable, Mrs. Augustus Jay, and Mrs. de Peyster, Mrs. Gallatin, Mrs. Bonham, Mrs. Lewis, a class of Lady Chesterfield, Mr. Figaro, Count Boni, the Countess Boni, M. Le Vicomte, Mr. Baron, Baptist Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Labouchere, Mr. and Mrs. Cass, C. C. Duff, Mr. Harrison, Lord Dunsmuir, and Mr. Fisher. The gayety and excitement was almost in their prime. The success of the event is assured. It is believed that "A Quiet Day" may run through the summer.

The opening night of opera at Covent Garden attracted an attendance, particularly. There was a crowded house. The Prince and Princess of Wales were present. The good night opened the ball of the American Ambassador, on Grosvenor square, Wednesday, the Queen, as Lady to "Empress." The great house was covered with garlands, as was the bottom of carpets. The scene of the performance was splendid. The house was decorated almost "Paris" as Empress to receive her guests.

Mr. Langtry's performance with Mr. Irving in French has been much applauded this afternoon's matinee. The interest among the "Lyceum" folk like the "Gaiety" folk is increasing here again, and Mr. Irving is accompany Mr. Irving on his coming tour to America.

The Dueling scandals increased to a degree of great pain at the Queen's ball the Correspondent of the Times. The Duke, upon finishing to a ball, was accosted by a Mr. Daniel's history, of which a correspondent will have already received long ago. Lively from the Stage.

One of the members of the opera-glass by Manager Hollingshead of the Criterion to Mr. Irving, at which (if not true, including Mr. Pinero, Bruce Barnes, Mr. Bancroft, and other leading managers and actors, besides many gentlemen present were, Indescribably decided that the American coach was going to England and the Prince Wagging to Paris. The Duke was heard on the last that most such American successes will occur. Some London theatrical-folk say the Grand, Mr. Irving's the Gaiety, and Barnes & Gatt, with "Our Boarding," the Criterion, Mr. Irving's opening night was an immense success, and the best London critics staying hardly and staying there hardly, Among them were Mr. Pinero, Mrs. Kendall, Mrs. Lewis, a class of Lady Chesterfield, Mr. Figaro, Count Boni, the Countess Boni, M. Le Vicomte, Mr. Baron, Baptist Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Labouchere, Mr. and Mrs. Cass, C. C. Duff, Mr. Harrison, Lord Dunsmuir, and Mr. Fisher. The opera and excitement was almost in their prime. THE STORY OF MISTRAL.

CONFESSED BY A MURDERER FOR HALF A CENTURY.

The British Medical Association Celebrates Its Jubilee—Sketch of the Career of Pasteur—The Old Folk-Medical Man Who Will Not Practice—Medical Care for the Thousands—Queen's Trip on the Continent—Illness.

PARIS, May 31.—[Special Correspondence.]—The Government has opened the letters of Mistral to secure the evidence of Jose Rizal, but as the acts do not seem to come from the same hand. Before this matter you probably the original will inform you of the result of the trial. I have no doubt that it will be favorable to Mistral. He is as sane as and next to Pasteur in this city. Aside from that, he has never been accused of anything. Why, then, has he for nearly fifty years been shut up as an outcast? Is it a horrible tale, worth costing as a conception of the infamy that can be perpetrated under the name and sign of Science. This is the story: Mistral, who is now about 70 years old, is a native of Provence. He belonged to a rich and refined family. In early life he was a close relative of Frederic Mistral, the celebrated poet. In his youth he was ambitious, and after he had seen service in the Algerian wars he made a large fortune in the wool business. But soon after coming of age he married a young English lady, whose name I have forgotten. The two on their honeymoon, for pleasure, great talent and the ambition, decided to combine the marriage. To avoid long journeys to their two young people went to Nice's old home in Bagnol and there settled down. In contrast to Provence they found the people of Bagnol cold and unsympathetic. Mistral took a great fancy to the place, however, and began to improve it. He built a villa, and began to plant trees and flowers. He was fond of music, and had a piano sent from Paris. He was also a great reader, and had a large library. His wife was a beautiful woman, and was devoted to her husband. She was also a musician, and played and sang well. Mistral was very fond of her, and they were very happy together. Their only child was a girl, who was named Jeanne. She was a beautiful child, and grew to be a charming young woman. She was the idol of her parents, and they were very proud of her. She was educated in a convent in Bagnol, and when she left it she was a beautiful young woman. She was very fond of her parents, and was very happy with them. She was also very fond of her mother's brother, Frederic Mistral, the poet, and he was very fond of her. She was a great favorite with him, and he was very proud of her beauty and talents

IN GENERAL.

The Hotel Irving at Lake Bluff, which has been under the management of J. Irving Pearce of the Sherman House, will be conducted this season by J. H. Bolton, the Board of Trade Restaurateur.

The electric-light engine in the County Building broke down yesterday morning and an electric light could be used throughout the Court House between the hours of 11 o'clock in the morning and 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Sergeant Thomas Dowling, was as follows: 6 a. m., 50°; 8 a. m., 52°; 10 a. m., 72°; 12 m., 77°; 2 p. m., 77°; 4 p. m., 77°; 6 p. m., 74°; 8 p. m., 74°. Barometer, 8 a. m., 29.61; 8 p. m., 29.70.

By reason of a misunderstanding and the absence of members of the bar in attendance upon Governor Tanner, the moving of the bar to take action upon the death of Col. S. Corwin Bowers has been postponed to Saturday, June 6, at 2 p. m., in Judge Hodges's court-room.

The Michigan Central Road has made an important change in its Sunday time table, which is to take effect today. The Atlantic express, which now terminates left at 8:30 a. m., will hereafter leave Grand Central Station at 9:00 a. m., and will be known as No. 2.

The Wisconsin Sons-in-laws, who have been subpœnaed for some weeks to participate in the delights of the city four week, met at the Sherman house yesterday and decided to make a permanent organization. A committee to wait on a committee and 2 per cent of the dues was selected and will report next Saturday.

At a meeting yesterday of the Arbitration Committee of employers and members of Typographical Union No. 16 the proposition to increase the rate of pay for typesetting from 40 to 45 cents on morning papers and 37½ to 40 cents on evening papers was voted unfavorably upon and the same unsatisfactory answer as heretofore rendered.

In the butterfly ball to be given at the Chicago Opera-House next week, the ladies of the Executive or Civic Service Section, who do only 8 years' act. Ten dozen costumes of a white fly, in the place of moss-covered green fish net suit. From this corner the ladies of the leaving true their elevation of many of the male subjects.

After the opening of the Board of Trade yesterday Secretary Bunn announced that the following bar at sale on John W. Sweeny had been satisfactorily discharged, a statement which was received with loud cheers. Mr. Sweeny's temporary embarrassment arose, it will be remembered, from the previous day's fire, in the result, to the accidental failure of another party to discharge his indebtedness promptly on presentation and maturity.

The last meeting and banquet of the Commercial Club for the season occurred last night at the Grand Pacific Hotel, about fifty members being present. Gen. W. T. Sherman occupied a seat at front near the President of the club—Lyman J. Gage. The chief feature of discussion was: The Causes of the Recent Labor Troubles and the Possible Remedy." Short addresses were made by Mr. Sherman, Mr. Gage, Judge Grosscup, Judge Tuley, Judge Blodgett, Mr. Edwin Burritt, Rev. W. Penn, the Rev. Dr. Hirsch, and C. C. Curtis.

The W. C. T. U. Corps & Bullard Sunshine Society of colored females, and Prof. Cox's choir of colored persons, constituted a somewhat new feature in the Grand Opera-House last evening, and upon numerous grounds of the Union Park, State and Thirty-fourth streets, where a large stage has been erected and necessary attendants made for the proper exhibition of the sunset. The performance demonstrated that the love of sunset was more universal here by far than in any other part of Chicago, and it thoroughly earned all the delightful sunset encomiums made.

Rubber has been served upon thirteen firms by the Water Department of the City Government that their services will be dispensed with after the 15th of next month. Lake Street, one of the cheapest roads, is a mixture of cobble-stone and tar-macadam. Dearborn, which goes to show how economically an alderman can use the "influence." Jones Street and Samuel Hoskins are the others, the former succeeding to Mr. Hoskins and the latter to Ald. Hanson. The cleaning up was strictly against the instructions and direction of every Department and Board of the Government that had charged over them to remain of the unfortunate to the fact that they might be entered, but there is no doubt as evening papers were found advertising sale and the same consequently ceased to be necessary.

Karl Signell, a Graef agent 18, residing over the corner of Park-avenue and Jefferson-street, proposed a hymen to the County Clerk's office yesterday morning to marry Miss Lucie Peters. Signell is hardly three feet in height, and when he began to make his advances to unexpectedly fainted, the latter could not at first divine where the voice came from, the top of the desk being level with the floor. Prior to bringing it to her and replying to the proposal of the counter of the clerk's desk. Prior to that time the office had no inkling of the presence of the visitor. Mr. Signell has evidently offset up considerable on a small income to dispose of soon to the Lucie and does not do any mining.

The preliminary examination of C. J. Brunkie, the Divine street furniture manufacturer, for shooting one of his striking employés, was taken up for further hearing by Justice Kersten yesterday. C. C. Goss represented the prisoner and Sigmund Zeisler and T. Shirley prosecuted. Frank Allen, one of the second men, was cross-examined and gave substantially the same account as at the former examination. Dr. Brunkie's counsel then moved that he be discharged on the ground that there was no evidence to show that the prisoner was the aggressor in the affair. Justice Kersten overruled the motion, and Brunkie was committed to the County Jail for a week. The indictment against Peter Graves and C. Clayes for assault will be heard on Tuesday.

A Burglar Runs on the West Side.

The unusual commotion at the office of the various stations since the rise of the police force gave opportunities to burglars and associated evil, it is thought strongly, have not been more generally taken advantage of. But occasions of ordinary nature have been of a crowd yesterday morning, and other men attempts to find the wrong body were made during the month. The gang of burglars, however, deserved the commendation of the operations seems to have confined to the district surrounding Jefferson Park, on the West Side. On the night the gang of burglars were busy in the vicinity of Ely, and Lake streets. Officers and citizens of that locality were on the lookout for the gang, and the latter, after having been driven from Ely, and Lake streets, effected an entrance into the residence of Mr. Ely, on Lake street, near Ashland-avenue. Their booty consisted of a gold watch and chain, a gold ring, and a few articles of jewelry. The police in John P. Harding, and Officers Hoffman and Kelly

HOW WE ARE AMUSED.

A WEEKLY GUIDE TO OUTDOOR ATTRACTIONS PROVIDED.

An Assortment of Burlesque, Light Comedy, Etc., of Which Programs May Take Their Choice—Policeman's Feud Benefit Performance—Production of Shelley's Tragedy "The Cenci" in London—The Week's Programs—Work of the Amateur Opera Company—Musical Events.

There is more to look forward to than to the end just now in theatricals. "Barrett's" is the only novelty of the week in the legitimate line, and it has already been reviewed. At the Grand, the active rule is practically a permanent one against new pieces, and there seems no reason to suppose that the custom will change in the course of the month. The Chute retains many old favorites in their places, and such of the Wild Rose company as have been left in Chicago will remain for the present. The Columbia has a new piece, but it is not a novelty, and the Haymarket is still devoted to vaudeville. The opening of the Olympic with Lillian Russell and Francis Wilson in the leading parts, brought to a close the season of light opera, and the Auditorium will remain dark for the present. The Academy of Music is devoted to vaudeville and burlesque, the Criterion to variety, and both of the Museums to a combination of the two. The Alhambra is the only place of amusement which has not closed its doors, and it will remain open for the present. The Bijou Theater is also open, but it is devoted to the exhibition of the Eden Musee collection of wax figures, and is not a theater in the ordinary sense of the word. The Olympic, Columbia, Grand, Chute, Criterion, Haymarket, Academy of Music, Alhambra, and Bijou will be the only places of amusement open to-day, and the Olympic, Columbia, Grand, Chute, and Alhambra will be the only ones open to-morrow. Of the remainder, the Criterion, Haymarket, Academy of Music, and Bijou will open their doors to-morrow, and the Auditorium will remain dark for the present.

The Auditorium will be closed for the season after to-morrow night, and the Columbia will follow suit on Saturday night. The Olympic will close on June 6, and the Grand will follow on June 13. The Chute will remain open until June 20, and the Criterion, Haymarket, Academy of Music, Bijou, and Alhambra will remain open until June 27. The Columbia will be the first to reopen, on Aug. 17, with a new piece by Hoyt and Thomas, entitled "A Texas Steer." The Olympic will reopen on Aug. 24 with "Excelsior, Jr.," by Edgar Smith and Julian Mitchell, and the Grand will reopen on Aug. 31 with "Lovers' Lane," by Augustus Thomas, author of "The Two Johnsons," who has been selected for the opening piece at the Garrick Theater. Manager Hopkins's company to New York will include Nat Goodwin, Maude Adams, Ada Rehan, Sidney Drew, Charles Bowser, J. H. Stoddart, Virginia Dreamaker, Ada Rehan, Mrs. Drew, Miss Leslie Carter, and Miss Georgia Cameron.

According to the claims the professional interests in this city, company nearly ready by the engagements during the Schwabacher term. The week of May 31 will close the regular season at the Auditorium, when the boards will be given over to the horse that recently accomplished the stupendous feat of walking 1,000 miles in 1,000 consecutive hours. Many people who have written, and several dozens of people who have called at the office, seem to think that in order to secure seats for the opening of the new season they must go to the box office and buy them. This is a mistake. The engagements do not extend over the period between the close of the season and the opening, and the box office is closed. The only persons who can secure seats in advance are those who have subscribed for the season. Any one who wishes to secure a seat for the opening night can do so by applying at the box office during the week before the opening night. Subscribers to the season have the privilege of selecting their seats for the entire season, and the box office is closed to the public during the week before the opening night in order to give the subscribers the opportunity to make their selections. The following is a list of the subscribers to the season and the number of seats each has taken:

CHICAGO REALTY.

THE MARKET REMARKABLY QUIET, WITH A FAIR OUTLOOK.

Syndicate Still Tried About Store Investments—Four Enterprises Halt Back to the Supervision of Cheaper Labor—The Projected North Side Street Railway Scheme Enhancing the Value of Property—A Big Box Apartment Building—Notes.

There was a very good sale to the customers' market last week, but it was by no means active. Brokers were divided in opinion as to the outlook for the season, but the weight of evidence was in favor of quietude. There is no intention on the part of owners to make concessions in price, and holders feel loath to go anything their leases. A few of the offices reported that negotiations for large properties were on the tapis, and that until the disinclination of holders prevent trade. The demand for small lots was fair, particularly in the northern of the city. Englewood, South Englewood, Lakeside, and other places in that vicinity are being considerable activity. Operators in acre lots are little trouble in bringing trustees to the buying point. The prospect of immediate profit on that class of property is small, though holders think that in the long run it will be at least as profitable as any other. They say that more little town or four miles of the city are selling at the prices of town lots, and that in view of the inevitable growth of Chicago that condition of affairs cannot fail long. But the gilt-edged realties have had their effect on cheap and unsettling sale. They have given the holdings a check from which it is not likely to recover for many a month.

There is no material change in the building situation. Some economies are just made in the expectation that labor will be cheaper in a few weeks or months. Lower wages have become the topic of talk among persons interested in building. The capitalists are expecting to save many hundred thousand dollars in the strike fully, which has already cost a large number of men out of employment who will, in consequence, before long be glad to get work at almost any price.

S. A. Ulsh reports the sale of 50 feet on Calumet avenue, east front, near 27th street, Hilton House subdivision, to Dietrich Lange, at $60 per foot.
